June is Great Outdoors Month in Florida State Parks

President George W. Bush proclaimed June as Great Outdoors Month, calling on all Americans to "Get Active, Get Outdoors!" The Department of Environmental Protection is celebrating the month with a variety of outdoor recreational programs and activities at Florida State Parks.

"With the start of summer vacations, June is a great time to cool-off in a state park spring, kayak down a river or ride the ocean waves," said Florida State Parks Director Mike Bullock. "Recreating in Florida's great outdoors is good for the body and the mind."

The Florida Department of Environmental Protection's Hontoon Island State Park and the Hontoon Island Foundation Citizen Support Organization, Inc. have completed a three month renovation project which included attaching four solar panels to the park's electric powered ferry
